

Nancy joined FBA as the Resource Teacher in 2003. Prior to that time, she served for four years on the FBA School Board. Although not a true native, Nancy moved to Naples with her family as a teenager and graduated from Naples Christian Academy. She went on to pursue a Bachelor's Degree in Exceptional Student Education at Furman University in Greenville, South Carolina, followed by a Master's Degree in Education at Georgia State University. Her teaching career began in Atlanta, Georgia where she taught for five years. In 1993, Nancy and her husband, Jim, moved back to Naples where she taught in Collier County Public Schools for six years. Nancy's experience ranges from a self-contained classroom to team teaching third and fourth grade. She has been certified to teach in three states.
